

Scottish Enterprise Rural Leadership Programme

Are you the VERY BEST
you can be?

An inspiring virtual leadership development programme

ABOUT THE PROGRAMME

We are living in unprecedented times when the business environment is affected, and perhaps changed for ever, by the twin uncertainties of Covid19 and Brexit. Businesses will need strong leadership if they are to get through a period of intense change and take advantage of opportunities that will arise in future.

Now in its 14th year and with over 630 graduates, the Scottish Enterprise Rural Leadership programme is designed to equip rural business owners and managers with the confidence and skills to make bold decisions and to get the best from themselves, their business and their team.

JOIN 630
GRADUATES

Through an engaging interactive format, Scottish Enterprise Rural Leadership Programme (SERLP) focuses on self-development and self-awareness to empower business leaders to effectively respond to the challenges and complexities of running a business and to enact positive change in the wider rural economy.

It encourages participants to push on boundaries and to adopt an entrepreneurial mindset, build resilience, cultivate collaborative opportunities and create trusted links with industry and Government.

Led by key experts in their field, the programme includes over 40 hours of virtual workshops, team tasks, group discussion and 1-to-1 coaching sessions over six months. Run from October 2020 to March 2021, there will be four regional groups, each with 10 participants.

SERLP is funded and delivered by Scottish Enterprise & Highlands and Islands Enterprise with facilitation from SAC Consulting
