SKILLS FOR RURAL INDUSTRIES

DIVERSIFICATION FOR LAND-BASED TOURISM BUSINESSES

SRUC
What is farm diversification?

Diversification is a process of a farm, rural business or land-based business expanding its business activities beyond the traditional farming or agricultural enterprise in order to add value to its produce, build resilience, increase business profitability, reduce market, and price volatility, and highlight supply chain provenance.

Agritourism

“A tourism or leisure activity on a working farm, croft or estate which produces food.”

Why start a business in land-based industries?

Diversifying strategies can support resilience to face the effect of external perturbations.

Motives for diversifying into land-based businesses include several considerations other than economic aspects such as personal choices and desires, current constraints, and goals.

No one solution fits all. It is important to understand the reasons and motivations behind the decision to diversify, identify different suitable diversification strategies and choose the one that aligns with set goals.

Economic benefits
- New sources of revenue through new products and services
- Stable income, which gives high expected returns in the presence of changes.
- Adaptation for seasonality

Environmental benefits
- Conservation of natural resources.
- Maintenance and conservation of biodiversity and landscapes.
- Land-based enterprises such as tourism have little environmental impact

Social and communal benefits
- Improve livelihoods and living standards
- Promotion and development of the local area supporting other industries.
